Fighting Fires in Apartment Buildings: Fire departments across the country fight fires in private dwellings every day; fires in multiple dwellings however, are less frequent but often much more challenging. Fires in these buildings present many problems not typically found in house fires, and therefore require different tactics to combat. This intensive, 16-hour class will describe the features of fireproof and non-fireproof multiple dwellings, including garden apartments, detail the engine and truck company operations necessary to successfully fight fires in multiple dwellings, and reinforce those concepts with extensive hands-on practice.

Requirements: minimum NFPA Firefighter I, Engine Co Ops & Truck Co Ops recommended; bunker gear & SCBA with spare cylinder
